7. From 28 October to 5 November 1954, only Polish soldiers were observed in the streets of Breslau (P 52/C 41). No Soviets were seen. Most of the Polish soldiers were red collar patches, while some were light-blue and green ones. Numerous soldiers belonged to old classes. Many soldiers wore no epaulets at all. After 5 November 1954, numerous recruits were observed in the Breslau-Poznan (P 52/X 26) train. They stayed in the train after Poznan. About 25 Soviet soldiers, all of them wearing black collar patches, were observed at the Poznan railroad station.
